

PARENT TIME

(Especially for baby & toddler parents)

Christmas! It's the best time of year. The wonder. The delight. The pure joy! Oh, Christmas is just so much fun!

This may be your first (or maybe second) Christmas with your little one. It's the time when Christmas traditions are formed, when we figure out just how we want to celebrate the birth of our Savior now that we have a child in the house. As you plan your December, remember the why of the Christmas season. It's not just about cute outfits, fun times, and family gatherings.

It's about a birth—the birth of a child who would one day save the world. How are you planning to teach your preschoolers about that most important part? Where does that fit into your traditions? Maybe you'll introduce your first child-friendly Nativity into your house. As your child plays with each piece, tell them the true story of Christmas. Tell them about that night long ago when a special baby, God's Son, was born. Tell them how much God loves them, and you.

Merry Christmas!

Interested in connecting with a community of parents just like you? Visit www.TheParentCue.org and see how others are not just surviving, but thriving during these parenting years.